

GLJ Petroleum Consultants Announces Executive Changes

GLJ Petroleum Consultants announces the retirement of two of the firm's senior executives and related promotions and appointments, effective September 30, 2011.

Harry Jung, P. Eng., president and CEO, and Dana B. Laustsen, P. Eng. executive vice president and COO are retiring after 30 and 29 years, respectively with the firm. Harry and Dana have been instrumental in building the success and outstanding reputation of GLJ. The management and staff of GLJ wish to express sincere appreciation for their hard work, dedication and guidance over the past three decades and offer best wishes to both in their well-earned retirement.

Keith M. Braaten, Jodi L. Anhorn and Caralyn P. Bennett have been promoted to fill executive positions.

Keith M. Braaten, P. Eng.
President & CEO

Keith M. Braaten, P. Eng. will take over as president and CEO. Keith has over 32 years of experience in the oil and gas industry and has been with GLJ since 1985. Keith was promoted to vice president of the international group in 1994 and has held the position of executive vice president since 2005. Keith's expertise includes domestic and international reservoir studies, corporate reserves evaluations, resource assessments, resource supply studies, enhanced oil recovery projects, field development plans and expert witness testimony. He has extensive petroleum related experience in Canada (including frontier areas) and in over 25 countries worldwide.

Jodi L. Anhorn, P. Eng.
Executive Vice President & COO

Jodi L. Anhorn, P. Eng. who joined the firm in 1993, advances to the role of executive vice president and COO. Jodi has extensive experience in areas of corporate reserves evaluations, detailed field development studies, well test analysis, reservoir simulation, and served as the project lead on multi-discipline asset teams for numerous significant evaluation projects. Mr. Anhorn is an expert in the preparation of domestic and international unconventional resource assessments.

Caralyn P. Bennett, P. Eng.
Vice President

Caralyn P. Bennett, P. Eng. has been promoted to vice president, in-situ oil sands. Caralyn has over 26 years experience in the oil and gas industry. Caralyn first joined GLJ in 1990 and then left in the mid-1990s to co-found a private oil and gas company which grew successfully from zero to 2,800 BOPD in 18 months. She has since provided engineering and management consulting services independently to numerous private and public companies, including GLJ, and officially re-joined GLJ as a manager of engineering in 2010. Caralyn has extensive experience with enhanced oil recovery projects, resource and reserve evaluations of SAGD projects as well as conventional oil and gas properties.
